A young girl with dark hair in braids, wearing a black and red jacket, stands at a table. She is holding a long wooden stick and appears to be working on a craft project. The table in front of her has various art supplies, including a palette with paint, brushes, and a piece of blue material.

A boy in a dark jacket is seated at a table, focused on his work. He is using scissors to cut a piece of paper. The table is cluttered with art supplies, including a large pile of blue tinsel and various containers.

Two girls in blue jackets are seated at a table, working on their projects. One girl is using a pencil to draw on a piece of paper, while the other is also working. In the background, another boy in a red and black jacket is seated at a table, also engaged in his work.

A display board or window area on the right side of the room. It features a large illustration of a fire with flames, surrounded by various papers and drawings. The board is mounted on a wooden frame.
